with Betty Allen...

To celebrate Hallowe'en in the traditional manner, Dicky Lewis and Patty Powell will entertain the children in their neighborhood at a party Tuesday night. Dicky and Patty have earned the money for the party themselves and are doing all the work, too, which include elaborate decorations and invitations written in quivery, ghost-like handwriting. Games will be the age-old Hallowe'en ones and pigtales will bob over buckets of floating apples and spines chill over eerie tales. We hear that the refreshments will be orthodox too—cider and doughnuts.

While on her recent buying trip to Los Angeles, Rachel of "Rachel's" spotted Rita Hayworth shopping in Sak's Fifth Avenue. She said the glamorous movie star looked as beautiful as she is reputed to be, but that her clothes, which consisted mainly (but not solely) of a dilapidated polo coat, left much to be desired. Miss Hayworth should pay a visit to Rachel's store.

We enjoyed the cartoon of the small boy asking his teacher if there was much of chance of a teachers' strike.

If Ed Merrill, chairman of Campbell's Fire Commissioners, is going around looking a trifle sheepish—here's why: he received a ticket for parking in front of the Santa Clara fire house the other day.

The victim of a freak accident, Mrs. M. A. Montague, proprietor of the Montague Camp at Gillman and Center, had a narrow escape from serious injury Tuesday. She was peacefully digging weeds in the yard when suddenly the ground underneath her caved in, caused apparently by an old abandoned cess pool. Mrs. Montague managed to grab a gas pipe running across the cavity and saved herself from a 20 foot fall. Weeding always seemed like a harmless occupation, but now we're not so sure.

It probably won't be long before some of the enterprising Campbell HI students whip up a cheer incorporating "up and atom."

At the Cramer's farewell party for the Merrills, Ethan Lanphear distinguished himself with the following "pome" which, incidentally, was cleverly illustrated with a pen and ink drawing:

TO "DOC"

Many folks will not remember,
But 'twas thirty-two years ago
When the Campbell firelads put on Their first annual Minstrel Show.
At one end a chubby fellow,
Bright red coat upon his back,
Kept the audience a laughing
With his face all smeared in black.
Then, as now, and on forever,
This man's dearly known as
"Doc";
For he truly served his patients
Then till now, around the clock.
He has treated my whole family
Through the years when we were ill,
And I feel that I can never
Fully pay my doctor bill.
So that now as he is bringing
Local practice to an end,
I not only lose my doctor
But I lose a damn good friend
At the other end.

Ben J. Andris, former Hotel St. Claire desk clerk and Campbell resident, was the recipient of something new and different in the way of showers. The recently discharged Chief Bots'n. Mate discovered that 42 months in the service plays havoc with a man's wardrobe. Handkerchiefs were about the only articles that survived. His sympathetic sisters-in-law, the What Not girls, arranged a surprise shower for him with 21 for a pot luck dinner—and was he showered! Shirts, ties, socks, shaving cream, lotion, underwear, pajamas, even a sweater and sport jacket. Ben seems to be a lucky man.

"Avengers" Fly... Peninsula Prepares To Observe Navy Day Oct. 27th

Visitors Will Be Permitted Aboard Some Ships

Acknowledging the part of its Navy in final victory, a grateful nation will celebrate Navy Day, October 27th. The war won, the importance of its air and seapower recognized, the "world's greatest Navy" readies itself for a vigilant peace; guns, ships, planes and men on the alert. The final story of the Navy's careful integration of its sea-air power and landing forces, will go down in history as an epic of military achievement.

Visitors to San Francisco will have no difficulty recognizing U.S. battleships, aircraft carriers, cruisers and destroyers participating in Navy Day ceremonies, for all the ships will have their names painted in large letters on their sides, contrary to the usual Navy custom of identifying U.S. Navy ships only by number.

At the U.S. Naval Air Station, Alameda, "open house" will be held aboard one of the Navy's largest and most famous aircraft carriers, U.S.S. Yorktown, known to millions as the "Fighting Lady" because of the part she played in the motion picture of that title.

On the pier where the carrier will be moored, will be a full array of exhibits pertaining to naval aviation which will include many erstwhile military secrets, some of which will be viewed in operation.

The station will be open from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., and the visitors' entrance will be the east gate on Atlantic ave. Guests will be permitted to drive their automobiles on the station and into a parking area of the station on foot, but will not be permitted to enter certain restricted areas where they might be endangered by operations which will be in progress.

Observance of Navy Day was inaugurated October 27, 1922, under the auspices of the Navy League of the United States, in order that the American people might become more familiar with the United States Navy, and gain a greater appreciation of its importance and influence in our national life.

October 27 was chosen as the date for the observance because it marks the anniversary of the date in 1775 when the Continental Congress received the bill providing for the original United States fleet. Although the fleet was authorized at that time it was not until 1793 that the Navy Department was made an independent and recognized unit of our Federal Government. October 27 also marks the birthday of Theodore Roosevelt, who recognized the need for a strong Navy and is widely credited with being the father of our modern Navy.

This year the United States Navy will be 170 years old. Its origin is mingled with the very roots of American life and thought. From the era of the wooden sailing ships to the present day, its tradition of seamanship and courage has been one of the proudest chapters in American history.

In his Navy Day statement Harry S. Truman says:

"Navy Day, October 27, 1945, is a day on which the whole country can honor the 4,000,000 young Americans who fought in the Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard. To them we owe our victory in the greatest naval war in history—a victory which destroyed two enemy fleets and placed our forces on the beachheads of final triumph. For all the sacrifice and toil which went into those achievements the Nation now has an opportunity to say, 'well done'."

Navy Day this year also will let the American people see for the first time units of the great Fleet which their work and money built. I hope it will be possible not only for vessels and planes to be assigned to as many cities as possible, but also for those vessels and planes to be visited by the people, to whom they belong.

Chest Drive Short Of Goal Set For Campbell

At noon yesterday the total amount received in the War Chest drive was $4511.80, over 67% of the total goal for the community.

Herbert M. Shadle, chairman, says: "We have arrived at the last period of the drive. In order to win a race the winner must put everything he has into a final burst of speed down the home stretch. The War Chest drive is in the home stretch now. This is the time to pick up all the stragglers and cover all the territory not canvassed so far. It means increased effort from workers and givers."

"We must reach our quota so that each agency will receive the proper amount necessary to function successfully during the coming year. This is the last time we will ask for so much money for the need is not so great in a peace time economy."

"You know the need. Don't wait for solicitation—come in with your gift. If you would like a solicitor to call, telephone Campbell 3430. Fill out and mail the coupon found on page 5 today."

John Wasson, manager of Sherman Clay in San Jose, was the Kiwanis guest speaker on Tuesday. In his talk, entitled the "Development of Radio," he predicted that San Jose would have television within two years.

Guests at the luncheon were Sgt. Mervyn Nicholls, newly returned from the European theater; John Pugh of San Jose, and Paul Harris, a local high school student who told Kiwanis members of the Scientific Show to be given at the Campbell High auditorium tonight. Next week's meeting will honor Dr. W. I. Merrill.

Fifteen cartons of cigarettes and a "considerable amount" of candy were removed from the Blue Jay Cafe on Winchester road Sunday night, and the place ransacked, apparently in search of money. Employees found the front door standing open but the method of entry was not determined.

Harvey Sheeder, Central Ave., is at home with his family during a ten-day furlough from Camp Roberts.

Sgt. La Tour To Return

Staff Sergeant M. L. La Tour, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. La Tour, San Tomas road, is being returned to the Continental United States from the Superfortress base on Guam under the Army's readjustment program. La Tour, who entered the Army in 1940, has served overseas for nine months with Col. Carl R. Storrie's 314th Bombardment Wing, a 20th Air Force unit whose superforts dropped 60,000-600 pounds of bombs on 61 missions during the air war against the Japanese homeland. His score, under the readjustment point system, is 78 points.

His wife, the former Winnifred E. Jevons, and his small daughter, Suzanne, live in Berkeley. Before entering the Army, the sergeant was a chief steward for the Matson Steamship Company.

One thousand Girl Scouts in 79 troops throughout San Jose and the county area are the first volunteers to join in assisting the Santa Clara County Tuberculosis Association in preparations for the annual Christmas Seal Sale, Mr. John M. O'Keeffe, tuberculosis association's president, announced today.

Mr. O'Keeffe said that the Scouts have taken over the gigantic task of folding 100,000 sheets of Christmas Seals which will be completed this week and ready for stuffing.

The Scouts, according to Mrs. Sam Abinante, troop leader chairman in charge of Seal folding, are glad to give their services to the tuberculosis association as one of their civic activities because they "realize that Christmas Seals stand for better health and they are happy to have some part in promoting their sale."

For many years past Girl Scouts of this area have taken over completely the folding of the Christmas Seals.

The 39th annual national Christmas Seal sale opens this year November 19 when 55,000 letters containing seals will be dropped into mail boxes all over Santa Clara County. Proceeds from the seal sale are used to finance the county-wide chest X-ray program, health education, public health nursing service.

In Campbell Martin Walsh is Seal sale chairman this year.

Farley To Lead Victory Loan Drive

G. E. Farley, real estate man, will head the Campbell "Victory Loan" drive which starts October 29th and will continue until December 8th. This is Farley's third consecutive chairmanship for bond drives.

Campbell's total quota for the drive is $111,000 with $55,400 of this to be in E bonds purchased by individuals. The national quota is 11 billion with four billion from individuals.

Fred M. Vinson, secretary of the treasury, says, "Obligations incurred in the achievement of victory have been tremendous. We must bring the boys home as soon as possible, care for the wounded, supply mustering-out pay, and maintain occupational forces in Germany and Japan. These and other aftermath-of-war responsibilities make the success of the 'Victory Loan' a must for our nation."

Fire of undetermined origin broke out in a pile of sacks at the Campbell Co-operative Dryer Monday at 6:15 p. m. but was spotted immediately by John Helzer, foreman, who, with the assistance of workmen quickly extinguished the blaze before it could make any headway.

The San Jose Art League, made up of local people interested in the graphic arts, sculpture, architecture, ceramics and the minor arts and crafts, will observe American Art Week Nov. 1 to 7. It will arrange displays of paintings in downtown store windows in order to stimulate public interest in art.

The league recently resumed monthly meetings after several months of suspension due to many of its members being on war work. Friedolin Kessler, the league's director, has been doing war work in the Bay Region but will return to San Jose to make his home.

Besides the observance of American Art Week the League plans talks on art subjects, a semi-annual art exhibition and life classes. It has also offered its services to the city council in helping to plan public buildings.

Chamber Holds Important Meeting

A score or more interested citizens attended the Chamber of Commerce meeting Wednesday of last week, and during the course of the evening put to motion or completed many important pieces of business.

President Joe Gomes rapped the gavel at 8:15, and from then on the floor was occupied steadily with one or another of the many propositions brought before the group.

H. M. Shadle and Wm. Weeks were appointed to confer with several other groups with the idea of erecting highway signs at the entrance to the business district, containing the emblems and meeting hours of various organizations. This will be similar to the American Legion and Kiwanis signs seen everywhere, but all desiring to join on one larger board may have that opportunity, thus saving expenses.

Postmaster Ira Grim commented upon the proposal of a new post office in town, stating the figure, $85,000, quoted in press releases, was the maximum. He said undoubtedly a new plant could be set up here for considerably less. That a new office is in the offing was assured, and further Mr. Grim pleased his hearers when he stated that a request for carrier service in the residential district had been made and he hoped to see it granted by the post office department.

H. M. Shadle outlined somewhat his duties and powers as a member of the County Planning Commission. As soon as maps are completed they will be shown and a public forum be called to explain more fully the aims and desires of both the citizenry and commissioners.

Old Settlers' Day was brought up, with the proposal that the entire community unite in a grand Welcome Home Celebration to all servicemen. The present vice-president, Walter Silberbauer, was cautioned to be alert to further developments along this line and to cooperate with other bodies in the event this proposal is followed. It was thought a goodly number of the home-town servicemen would be back, and such an occasion would be fitting celebration on the community's favorite annual affair.

EDITORIAL

A current magazine tells of a school in San Francisco of which we heartily approve. It is called the San Francisco Parental School and is designed for parents who, through ignorance or lack of a sense of responsibility, have failed their children.

George Jarrett, secretary of the San Francisco Coordinating Council and an ex-reporter, is the creator of the school. For years in the police courts he watched the law punishing teen-agers for delinquency, with the parents being let off lightly. He noticed with delinquent taxes that it wasn't the tax that was delinquent but the taxpayer and he decided that no child is delinquent but its parents often are.

The school curriculum is built on two premises: first, that parents must be taught the elementary lessons of responsibility, and second they should learn how to use community institutions to help the guidance of their children along normal paths.

Many parents, sent to the school through the juvenile court, through the municipal court, by the Public School Attendance Bureau, by ministers, lawyers, doctors and social workers are at first resentful and sullen, but it has been found that of the 250 parents who graduated in one year, not one parent or child was found again in either the juvenile or municipal court.

While undoubtedly successful the school is not considered a "cure-all" but, according to Jarrett, "only a part of a well-rounded community program that works for the welfare of children on every front."

Joseph V. Gomes, who writes this week's guest editorial, is a native Campbellian and a prominent rancher and orchardist. After attending the Campbell schools Mr. Gomes went to Stanford University where he graduated from the law school. He is giving much of his time and energy to the Campbell Chamber of Commerce which he is serving as president.

Next week Mr. D. H. Cramer will write for us.

Guest Editorial

By JOSEPH V. GOMES

Campbell is grwing. We are not going to be an industrial town, but rather more of a suburban community. With this increase in population there is a greater growth in our Civic problems. In order to maintain peace, health and order in this Community, we, as citizens, must take an active interest in our own welfare.

The Chamber of Commerce is the only organization in Campbell whose sole interest is the public welfare of the Community. It is open to every one residing in this town upon the payment of a small fee. Here every member has the right to express his opinion on what should be done to benefit the town.

We, as a community, are going to have to take very definite steps to keep this town as we want it in the very near future. Help make the plans before they are presented to you on the ballot.

This week there's meat for the murder fan. "Dread Journey", by Dorothy B. Hughes, author of "Fallen Sparrow," "The Delicate Ape" and several other spine tinglers.

"Dread Journey" is taken aboard the "Chief", fast train from Hollywood to New York. Those murdered and murdering are on board and working themselves up to a fine case of who gets rid of whom and why. There's sufficient suspense and action to keep one wide awake long after the midnight bell rings.

Standing along beside "Dread Journey" is Baynard Kendrick's latest crime listed as "Out of Control." This author features Captain Duncan MacLain, the blind detective and his Seeing Eye dogs. In this yarn MacLain handles one of the most puzzling cases of his career. Marcia Fillmore was young and she was beautiful and was married to Tennessee's most promising gubernatorial candidate. Marcia had a past, they said. It had something to do with a notorious gambler in the West, Eddie Hansen, who had died as violently as he had lived. Duncan MacLain, unceremoniously proceeds to bring to light Marcia's past and clear up a couple of crimes.

Next on the shelf of crimes is Margaret Scherf's "The Owl in the Cellar." Miss Scherf, with her humorous overtones and murderous undertones has written an exciting mystery tale. This novel has not been serialized in any form prior to book publication, so say the publishers. The principal characters dodging murdered bodies in this story consist of Father, who was a handsome total loss; Mother who saw giraffes in the garden; the beautiful elder daughter who filled the garage with cars donated by middle-aged gentlemen; and freckled-nosed Blue, the younger daughter, who could lay claim to normalcy. Murder, madness and merriment run rampant through the pages of this novel. Its worth your mysterious time.

New arrivals are numerous, but let's stop now. More about ghosts might disturb your slumbers.

A great war leaves the country with three armies—an army of cripples, an army of mourners, and an army of thieves.—German Proverb.

Christina Carroll "The Only Girl"

Christina Carroll, lovely young soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, is the featured star of Victor Herbert's "Only Girl", when it has a single performance in San Jose on Friday evening, November 2. There was a time when "Of the Metropolitan Opera Company" often meant that the singer had formerly been associated with the Met, but was now engaged in other fields. Not so with Christina Carroll. Having made her debut at the Metropolitan in "La Boheme" when she was 21, Miss Carroll is on a limited "leave" from the Met, to accept the current tour of the Victor Herbert musical comedy.

ORIGINAL DON COSSACKS
SAN JOSE NOV. 5

The famous Original Don Cossack Chorus, led by the little Serve Jeroff, sings for the San Jose Concert Series on Monday evening, November 5. The singing giants of the Steppes give a program of liturgical chants, folk songs, Cossack battle songs and one or two songs of the Soviet. During the past year, the 30 Russians have all become American citizens, and having translated the Constitution in Russian and back into English, to assist them in learning the language, they can recite it from beginning to end from memory, possibly the only group of American citizens who can do so.

Hi Notes!..

Miss Miriam Beach, a student teacher from San Jose State, is now teaching with Miss Howes in fifth and sixth period gym classes. As her specialty is dancing, she has shown the girls many new steps.

Mr. Roy Johnson, custodian, is back at Campbell after three and a half years in the service as an airplane mechanic. He is replacing Mr. Hartley who recently left us. Mr. Johnson is resuming his duties here as a tree surgeon and gardener.

The classes of mechanical drawing have recently been taken over by Oliver Upton. His teaching duties begin at 8 and continue until noon when he resumes his position as a draftsman.

At the first meeting of the Scholarship Society the following officers were elected: president, Diane Mussat; vice-president, Katherine Fuller; secretary-treasurer, Doris Raggio. Miss Elizabeth Thomas is the adviser.

The Poetry Club elected officers at their first meeting. They are: Charles Neel, president; Betty Putney, vice-president; Lorraine Morgante, secretary; Mary Lynn Thompson, corresponding secretary; and Genevieve Silva, business manager. Miss Mildred Media will serve as adviser.

Class officers have been nominated. Elections will be held as soon as the eligibility of the candidates has been checked.

On Tuesday, October 16, Miss Josephine Wagner, a Red Cross representative, gave an interesting talk on the work of the Red Cross.

The big little sister party was held Friday, October 5. Mrs. Alfreda Range welcomed the new girls and an entertaining program was given.

Campbell Hi is proud this year to have an increase in the size of their band. There are many new faces in the band and they are also getting into full swing.

The band is off to a good (and loud) start with everyone harmonizing. They are looking forward to a good, exciting season. With the release of gas, it looks as though they will be able to attend as many games as transportation facilities permit.

They have three majorettes this year who are really doing their part. The yare Beverly Hudson, Betty Hoyt and Betty Atwood.

The A Capella Choir elected their officers for this term. They are: president, Mac Martin, and secretary and treasurer, Sharon Wright.

The large membership in choir results in a scarcity of robes, but it is hoped that a sufficient supply of new ones can be acquired.

The choir is continuing to fine their members a penny for crossed legs and a nickel for chewing gum in class. This money will be saved until enough is secured to give a party or dance at the end of the year.

The commissioner of drama, Elaine Pierce and her adviser, Miss Gladys Strickland hope to organize a dramatic society this year. If enough students are interested the meetings and practices will be held during seventh period.

Many skits and plays are on hand and may be presented if students can be found to present them.

The senior play has been scheduled for February.

Harry Gray Evans, Chief Bosh's mate, U.S.N., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Evans, was home for a few days during the brief stay of the U.S.S. Roi, the aircraft carrier on which he serves. The Roi brought home returning veterans from Saipan and Guam. His wife, Clara Evans, lives at 156 E. St. John St., San Jose.

The navy man is a graduate of both Campbell schools and served as constable in Campbell before entering the service in 1937. His father is now night watchman here.

Mrs. Carey Harris, W. Latimer, returned last week from Marne, Iowa, where she attended funeral services for her stepfather, Ed Wheeler, who was killed in an automobile collision at Lyman, Wyoming, late in September. Mrs. Wheeler was seriously injured in the accident and was hospitalized in Evanston, Wyoming, for several weeks.

91st Division Men To Meet

Friday, Saturday and Sunday, October 26th, 27th and 28th, have been set aside as "Ninety First Division Days" in San Francisco.

On these three days will gather from many western states men of the famous "Powder River" 91st Combat Divisions—new and old—of World Wars I and II, to celebrate their first annual joint Victory Convention Reunion.

Together will gather the veterans of France and Belgium of 1917-18, and the recently returned youngsters, full fledged fighting men also—of the World War II 91st Division, which distinguished itself so in the furious drives through Italy. Interesting, is the fact that a great majority of the men, like that of the old 91st, hail from California, and are looking forward to this historic gathering.

Chellis Carpenter, 91st leader, has been named general chairman, and convention headquarters has been set up at 128 Veterans Memorial Building. Open day and night until the gathering, 91st veterans are urged to drop in immediately for registration.

Besides the business sessions to be held in the Veterans Building, the three day program will include a memorial service for men of World War I and II, annual 91st hero medal presentation to San Francisco's bravest policeman and fireman of 1945, mass initiation of World War II 91st men into the organization, the annual reunion ing, and final plans will be made urday eve, October 27th, at the Mart Club on Market Street near 11th, concluding with the annual ladies reception and cocktail hour on Sunday afternoon, October 28th, and a spectacular presidents' dinner dance to be held that same evening at a popular local cafe.

Pfs. Alfred N. Rains, of Campbell, has reported to the Army Ground and Service Forces Redistribution Station in Santa Barbara for two weeks of rest and relaxation at the Southern California city's famed resort-hotels, now under Army management. He recently returned from overseas duty in Europe.

The Ninth Service Command station there, one of six established across the nation, offers a comprehensive program of recreation, athletics, and entertainment to returned guests.

The Goodwill Industries of Santa Clara County is enlarging its workshops to help in the employment and training program* for those needing a helping hand and are asking for donations of clothing, shoes, sundries, household wares, beds, bedding, furniture, books and magazines. Their truck will pick up all contributions.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Benson had as their guests for a few days last week Mr. and Mrs. James Schott and their small son of Ocean Beach.

A demonstration on diet and health control under the supervision of Mrs. Winifred Jecker of the Extension Department was given October 17 to the Campbell High P.T.A. study group.

Mrs. E. Gleed and Mrs. M. E. Carlson were chosen as volunteer leaders to take charge of the November meeting. Volunteer leaders throughout the county will supervise the November meetings in order to relieve Mrs. Jecker for the 4H Clubs which are being organized.

Campbell leaders will be given efficient instruction on various ways of cooking poultry other than roasting. Mrs. F. A. Coombs, San Jose-Los Gatos highway, will open her home to the group for the November demonstration. Reservations may be made by calling Campbell 3567.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Cramer, S. Winchester road, was the scene Sunday of a gathering of old friends of Dr. and Mrs. W. I. Merrill. Mrs. E. R. Kennedy and Mrs. Cramer were co-hostesses for the group that enjoyed many parties together in the past. Many of the men present have been associated with Dr. Merrill in a men's glee club and in several minstrel shows.

Mrs. E. E. Lanphear and Mrs. R. H. Hyde assisted in serving the refreshments. The large buffet table was decorated with tuberous begonias and the small tables with lighted tapers and button chrysanthemums. The guests recalled many events of the past and sang old familiar songs. Mrs. Merrill was presented with a fortune telling birthday book in which the guests inscribed their names with accompanying descriptions.

Included among the friends present were Messrs. and Mesdames R. G. Archibald, R. H. Hyde, W. H. Stray, G. S. Robson, J. E. Palmer, Mrs. Edna F. Smith and Mrs. Muriel Rudolph of San Jose.

Army Will Accept Volunteers Again

Passage of the "Armed Forces Voluntary Recruitment Act" of 1945 by Congress, has opened the door to a large flow of enlistments into the Regular Army, according to Colonel Roy B. Arnold, head of the Army Recruiting Service.

The new bill has already had its effects on the recruiting drive, with over three times as many men enlisting per day as before. New advantages and opportunities offered may very well place the recruiting service over the top in its effort to gain voluntary enlistments in the Regular Army.

Among the highlights of the bill passed by Congress, which was so bitterly contested for several months, was the lowering of the enlistment period from three years to 18 months and 2 year periods. However, three year "hitches" remain open. The retirement age, which had long been 30 years, has been lowered to 20 years.

Young men reaching their 17th birthday may also enlist in the Regular Army for an 18-month period or more, provided they have the written consent of their parents or guardians. Previously, enlistments into the Regular Army were limited to those between 18 and 34.

Family allowances and the G. I. Bill of Rights are guaranteed to be maintained through the first enlistment period. Men enlisting for either 18 months, 24 months, or even 3 years are still entitled to all rights under the G. I. Bill of Rights upon completion of the enlistment. Payment of family allowances will also be continued through the initial period of enlistment.

Veterans discharged under the point system have also profited by this new bill. Previously, veterans of World War II had only 20 days to re-enlist and be eligible to retain certain privileges. However, these men now have until October 27 to enlist in the Regular Army and still maintain privileges as to rank, enlistment allowances and choice of branch of service and theater of operations.

The bill also provides for mustering out pay to be paid for men who receive discharges for purpose of re-enlisting in the Regular Army. Thus, a man wishing to enlist, can collect both mustering out pay and enlistment allowances at the rate of $50 a year for each year served since 1941. If a Regular Army man, he may receive $50 a year for every year served since last enlistment.

It was pointed out that civilians enlisting under the new regulations, may still choose the arm or branch of service and theater of operations in which to serve, including the continental limits of the United States.

For full information, visit or call your local recruiting office, where well informed personnel will explain all details. The sub-station for this district is located at Room 214, New Postoffice Building, San Jose, California.

New Blood Bank In San Francisco

Many lives can be saved if San Francisco Bay region communities take advantage of the offer of the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank in San Francisco to make whole blood and plasma quickly available at minimum cost.

Dr. Wilton L. Halverson, State Director of Public Health, made this statement in praising the post-war program of the bank which aims to make life-saving blood and plasma as available to civilians as it was to soldiers on the battle field during the war.

The Irwin Memorial Blood Bank will collect blood which will be typed and processed in the blood bank. The amount collected will form a credit in the bank against which blood or plasma can be obtained for any person in the community. All that is necessary is for a physician or hospital to telephone or wire a request to the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank. Cost to the individual is the actual cost to the bank for collection, processing and transportation, and is $7.50 a unit instead of the customary charge of $50 to $75.

Dr. Halverson urged civic agencies and clubs to promote group blood donations to start community accounts in the bank. Arrangements should be made through the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank, 2180 Washington St., San Francisco. The bank which was started in 1940 is under the sponsorship of the County Medical Society.

"The life-saving value of the liberal use of whole blood and plasma in transfusions was definitely established during the war and new uses were discovered," Dr. Halverson said. "In the treatment of some diseases, as well as in the treatment of wounds and shock, it is often necessary to give repeated transfusions. When usual rates are paid, the cost is frequently beyond the means of the patient."

Chamber Story

Upon motion, the county planners will be asked to establish a deadline along Campbell avenue, for business establishments. Eventual street widening would thus be simplified by establishing a definite line now.

A resolution was presented, thanking Dr. W. I. Merrill, who is leaving to live in Southern California, for his services to the Chamber and community during his long residence here. Regret was expressed at his leaving, for the town will lose one of its most ardent supporters and civic leaders.

Tony Ferranti and Gene Hodges were named as a committee to look into the feasibility of lighting the business district during the holidays. Several propositions were offered, all receiving recognition for their merit. Included may be the feature of having Christmas Carols played over a loud speaker during the holiday season.

The touchy question of alien Japanese exclusion and deportation was brought up, and with unanimous assent of all present it was voted to petition Congress to deport all enemy aliens holding views contrary to those of our own and their countrymen who have seen the light of American ways.

The Butano Redwood tract will be taken over as a State Park and preserved for future generations if a movement already under way is brought to completion. The Chamber voted to support this petition and work to save this nearby tract from the woodsman's axe.

Incorporation again was discussed at length, and the present committee headed by J. M. Dahl felt that the time was ripe for a public forum on the matter. A qualified speaker will be sought, and the public invited at a future date to air their views pro and con.

Secretary Martin S. Walsh reported several new businesses in town, and proposed additions to the rapidly-growing commercial group. Many new residences and buildings are contemplated, and such dreams as a new theater, new post office, additional retail stores and manufacturing concerns may be nearer realization than most citizens suspect.

Sheepmen To Study Problems

Postwar problems confronting sheepmen of Sacramento, San Joaquin, Stanislaus, Calaveras, Amador, Tuolumne, Mariposa, Santa Clara, Alameda and Contra Costa counties will be discussed at the annual meeting of the Central California Wool Growers Association in Stockton, Saturday, Nov. 3.

With owners of most of the 500,000 sheep in these counties expected to be present, the meeting will be called to order at 10 a. m. in the Farm Bureau Building, 145 S. American St., by George Emde of Lodi, association president. Dinner will be served at the Wool Growers Hotel, 325 S. Hunter St.

Major question to be considered by the sheepmen are whether they wish the government's wool purchase and lamb subsidy programs continued, and how much of the money appropriated by the Legislature for predatory animal control should be allocated to the Central California area.

Other matters slated for discussion are ceilings on lambs, sheep and wool, rationing, manpower, supplementary feeding of sheep, brush burning, and reseeding of ranges.

New Buildings At Vets Home

Plans are being speeded on a post-war building program which will more than double the capacity of the California Veterans' Home in Yountville, Colonel Nelson M. Holderman, commandant, announced today.

Holderman said he had received word from State Finance Director James S. Dean that bids for new construction, authorized by Governor Earl Warren and the State Legislature in the amount of $1,355,880, would be let in the near future and that work under the contracts should be complete by June 30, 1947. There has been some delay on account of shortage in materials and labor. Meanwhile, applications from veterans of World War II seeking care at the Home—the only State Veterans institution in California—are being received in increasing numbers.

The hospital is crowded now, with a waiting list, and domiciliary facilities will be taxed to the utmost within the next few months as approximately 500 regular Home members who have been out on secondary war jobs return to the institution.

New construction projects for which appropriations have been made by the Legislature and which are at contract stage, include:

New hospital wing with 104 beds, to cost $234,000.

Convalescent barracks, 200 beds, to cost $364,000.

New mess hall, $550,000.

Minor construction and improvements, $100,000.

One unit of recreation center, $106,000.

Plans are also complete and funds authorized for the long awaited Rector Canyon dam, sorely needed to provide an adequate water supply for the Veterans' Home and other State installations in Napa Valley. Estimated cost of the dam is $1,375,000 and construction bids will be called for soon.

The immediate building program will increase the bed capacity of the Home from 1277 to 1581 and the Legislature, probably at the forthcoming special session, will be asked to make additional appropriations for another convalescent barracks and new domiciliary quarters to raise the total capacity to 2181 beds. Further plans call for an eventual increase to 3100 beds.

Already the Home is caring for more than 50 veterans of World War II and the demands from this quarter will multiply rapidly as

Building Plans For High School

In 1941, the Campbell High School board of trustees planned a program for the expansion and improvement of the Campbell High School. The board made plans to lay $10,000 a year in an accumulated building fund. In 1944 the members of the board voted to give $15,000 to the fund during 1946. Today the amazing sum of $45,000 is ready to work for the benefit of Campbell.

Among the plans for improvements in the immediate future is the building of a fully equipped cafeteria to be located on the north side of Mrs. Runge's office. The price of such a building is estimated as being $30,000.

Plans are under way for the erection of a swimming pool estimated at $30,000; a choral room estimated at $8000 and an instrument music room estimated at $14,000.

The board of trustees has placed the cafeteria as number one on their list and construction is slated to begin next summer. In the next ten or twelve years they hope to:

1. Enlarge and improve the shops.
2. Expand the library.
3. To install bleachers on the east side of the football field.
4. Install a complete set of lighting equipment for the stadium.

In the next few years a new Campbell High will present itself to the citizens of Santa Clara Valley.

The happy possessor of an honorable discharge, Sgt. Mervyn O. Nicholls, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Nicholls, 250 Campbell Ave., returned early Sunday morning after three and one-half years with the 79th P-47 Thunderbolt Group of the 9th Air Force. His brother, Thomas, apprentice seaman, USN, will arrive next week on a five-day furlough from San Diego. Another brother, Corp. Jimmie Nicholls, is serving in India.

the nearly one million Californians who served in the latest conflict return to civilian life.

Colonel Holderman pointed out that membership in the Home requires a 10-year residence in the State and he said this constitutes an important protection for California service men against the new and transient veteran population which is jamming the hospital and rehabilitation facilities maintained in California by the federal government. "The State Home," declared the commandant, "furnishes the sole guarantee that hospital and domiciliary accommodations will be available to our own California veterans when they are needed."

Mr. H. G. Schwab had as his guest for a recent weekend, his nephew, Lt. Dwight L. Schwab, Tracer, Iowa. The lieutenant, a member of the Marines for over three years and the wearer of the Bronze Star, had just arrived in the States from Okinawa. He and his uncle had not seen each other for 30 years.

Other weekend guests of Mr. Schwab's were his granddaughter and her husband, Sgt. and Mrs. C. J. Trammell of Lompoc. Recently discharged from the service, the former sergeant and his wife have gone to Yuba City to visit Mrs. Trammell's parents.
